Said In Cypress

That no one tried to April fool us last Friday all day long. Either the people in the world are getting preoccupied, or we're all growing up. Come to think of it — neither did we try to April fool anyone. That if you know of a puppy or young dog of the Boxer variety, we know of someone who is anxious to add him to the family group — Mr. "G" of R & G Ready-mix. That Violet Moore is a lady of many talents we find — chief among them her ability to actually fashion shoes and purses from leather. A post card from the Gus Ehrig family last week announces that they arrived at their home in Hudson, Iowa, okay but the note would indicate they are already "homesick" for California. That we were disappointed a little bit in that nobody tried to win that plane ride Jim Bryant offered recently to any one who would name the family's pet dog. That the pastor and members of the congregation of the Faith Tabernacle have arranged the interior of their building very handily to suit the needs of a church; the piano was being tuned last Saturday. That the Tillema family is enjoying the luxury of driving a beautiful new automobile; the "yellow demon" has it all over theirs for color, maybe, but for beauty of style and comfort we dast not say a word. That if there is anyone around whose flair for wearing clothes western style has more finesse than Chuck Brown's, tell us now. That the neon sign is installed for the new drive-in theater on Lincoln avenue, which has been named "Cina car" theater; when it was learned that the prefix, cine, was a little to foreign and confusing to pronounce correctly. That Mrs. Mickey Thomas, on Hansen road, fashioned as lovely a boutonniere of violets and other small flowers for us Tuesday morning as you would care to see arranged in a professional flower shop; sort of gave a lift to a sultry day. That the shade of green on the walls of the new store buildings is yummy yummy. That the twins in the Nazarene parsonage are causing quite a stir among children and grown-ups alike; and why not? They're mighty sweet to add to Cypress' collection of twins and triplets. That Leona rates a letter, yet, from the members of the volunteer fire department for a recent treat of coffee and doughnuts following ne of its meetings; all done up in formal style with even a three cent stamp for postal delivery!

STATE OPENS SECOND UNIT OF SANTA ANA FREEWAY TO PUBLIC

A two-mile section of the Santa Ana Freeway from Soto street to Eastman avenue in Los Angeles was opened to traffic Monday.

The completed portion now extends frm the Union Station for nearly five miles through heavily populated east Los Angeles.

Work in Orange county is not expected to start until December, when bids will be let on the portion from the county line near Buena Park to US 101 at Miraflores, south of Anaheim.

After much delay and without formal opening ceremonies, workmen removed barricades at each end of the new section in Los Angeles and the first motorists drove over the six-lane highway.

The newly completed segment of the highway was begun in February of last year and the work was done at a cost of $1,200,000.

MONTE INSKEEP REPORTS INCREASE IN POSTAL RECEIPTS

Reports from Orange county building department and the United States postal service the end of the first quarter reveal continued growth and progress for Buena Park.

The Post Office here seemed assured today of gaining first class rank this year, according to Acting Postmaster Monte Inskeep who reported a gain in receipts for the first quarter of the year of $1806.07, or more than half of the $3000 the receipts must gain for the entire year to reach the top bracket.

He said receipts for the three months just ended totalled $9794.90, a gain of $1806.07 or 22.6 per cent over the $7988.83 received in the same quarter in 1948.

The office was high in total receipts among the seven unincorporated communities in the county for the period.

Two of the other offices showed decreases, the first reported in more than five years.

Reports from county building department sources place Buena Park tenth among the 18 unincorporated communities and 13 cities in the county. The total was $320,781 for 1949, a slight decrease from the $354,633 record first quarter established in 1948. Most county building totals showed some decrease in volume with the total $23,083,274 less than 1948.

Ronald Garrison Receives Degree In Boy Scouts

Successfully reviewed by a board of businessmen, Ronald Garrison became a second class scout in the Boy Scouts of America organization on Wednesday evening. Conducting the review was a committee of three local businessmen which was organized earlier in the evening. Chairman for the group is Frank Noe, and members of the board are E. V. Corby and John Crume. Representing the sponsoring post No. 9847 of the VFW were chairman John Sutphin and committeemen Carl Markel, Frank Buzzo and assistant scoutmaster E. E. Luty. Scoutmaster Jack Kepner, of Anaheim, conducted the earlier session, explaining the meaning and the aims of the Boy Scout organization.

The men on the review board are planning a camping trip for the local troop this summer, if the necessary arrangements can be made. John Crume offered to help make packs for the boys' camping trip, if they could furnish the material.

The meeting was held in the Frank Buzzo home at 5532 Danny avenue. Other boys will be ready in near future to advance in scouting.

New Auction Yard Approved Here

Orange county building totaled $10,000,094 during the first quarter of 1949, according to Orange county building department and the building inspectors of the 13 cities. The total is less than the $13,083,274 reported for the first quarter of 1948. It is felt the reason is probably due to the difficulties developers have encountered with reported tightening of finances and the lack of sufficient sewers.

This week, the county's planning commissioners approved, among other applications, an auction yard at the corner of Lincoln avenue, east of Moody street in Cypress, by the Triangle auction company, and in Los Alamitos a retail store and malt shop on Los Alamitos boulevard, north of Katella road, by Owina Moore and Mable Dively.

JUVENILE READER DESCRIBES AIR LANE

The story of Skyway One, private fliers' air-marked transcontinental route, is told for grammar school children in the new Air Age Reader, "Tess and Ted fly skyway one," by Superintendent of Schools Clayton E. Rose, and Aviation Instructor Carlton L. Wheeler, of Penn Yan, New York.

The skyway idea was originated by the Los Angeles chamber of commerce. Cypress airpark is included on the official maps, which show the route from Los Angeles to Washington, D. C., of Skyway One.

Two Headed Calf, Rare Oddity, Mounted by Cypress Taxidermist

by Beth Kroesen (Photo by Lee Stradley)

Early last month a news story began thusly, "A two-headed calf of grade Holstein stock was calved early Sunday morning at the John B. Martin and Sons Dairy ranch at 1400 Valley View. The animal was stillborn." Up to this point, so far, so good. The article contined, "Dr. Robert L. Griffith, Fullerton veterinarian, estimated that had the bovine oddity survived, it would have been worth $20,000 to its owners. The fact that the two-headed animals are extremely rare places a high curiosity value on them." All right.

And then, "The carcass of the animal has been sent to Santa Ana for mounting and"—but wait. The sharp eyes of fellow townsman Ralph Ellsworth caught this line, and he probably read no further.

From here the story becomes Ellsworth's. And for a good reason. Cypress has no need to send to Santa Ana any problem involving the services of a taxidermist. Your reporter viewed the finished product, upon invitation of Ellsworth, and found the information and results to be almost as interesting as though the animal had lived.

Apparent are the facts that there were two heads, four eyes and two ears. Upon investigation it was discovered that there were two complete sets of brains, in no way connected with one another. One windpipe branched off in a perfect "Y" and was open clear to the throat of each head. The jaw bones were offset on each head and should have functioned normally. Ellsworth believes that the animal could have eaten or drunk from each mouth with ease. The mother was unassisted at the time of delivery. Whereas normally a calf's head, with two front feet tucked under measures approximately six inches, the width of the two heads was about 11½ inches.

While we are about it, we stay to study other of the interesting specimens upon which Ellsworth has worked. Out on Orange avenue not long ago a beatuiful peacock died. Today he is resplendent in all his glory, the delicacy of his crest and the beauty of his plumage preserved for posterity. The beauty of the tail feathers will not be lost, but neither will it be spread, fan-like. The reason for this is almost unbelievable. The tail feathers weigh more than the bird and cannot be mounted satisfactorily without pulling it off balance.

Just finished is a deer's head. This particular deer was shot by a woman. Ellsworth says it is the smallest three-point he ever saw.

We could go on further describing the kinds of pheasants we saw, and other interesting animal carcasses, not to mention the two skunks and the smaller civet cats, all of which were come by in an interesting manner, each with a story.

It is our firm belief that the wonderful opportunity we possess in Cypress for visual education for the benefit of our elementary school children should be utilized. We read in school, and sometimes listen to lectures. But seeing is believing, and will many times leave a life-long impression when other methods fail.

Club's Rummage Sale Successful

The rummage sale conducted by the Women's Community Club last Saturday was termed a financial success by the committee in charge which was headed by Mrs. Milam Williams and Mrs. Kenneth Young. Held in one of the new store buildings on Lincoln avenue, there was the usual run of donated items, predominate among which were hats — probably the most excess item in milady's wardrobe in California.

The club netted $50, and the items of clothing not sold were taken to the Cypress auction for sale Saturday.

VFW & Auxiliary Joint Installation Last Of Month

WILL BE HELD THURSDAY APRIL 28

Last Friday evening, members of the auxiliary to Cypress Post No. 9847 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars visited their sister organization at Costa Mesa. Dorothy Smith, retiring president of the local unit, was invited at that time to join the past presidents' group of the second district.

It has definitely been decided to hold the joint installation service for the post and auxiliary on April 28. The ceremonies will be held in the utility room of the Cypress elementary school, after which the members and guests will retire to their hall for refreshments at the corner of Lincoln avenue and Miller road. The auxiliary will meet on its regular meeting night, April 21, prior to the installation.

Members of the two groups are enjoying the weekly social gathering in the new meeting hall. Winners of attractive ceramics at bingo last week were Ruth Mitchell, with four games; "Chuck" and Virginia Daniels, three; and "Happy" Kreissler, three.

On Tuesday evening, Frances De Maris, Ruth Mitchell, Ellen Jennings, and Dorothy Smith attended the installation ceremonies of the VFW and auxiliary in Westminster.

Robins Cleaners Broken Into Friday Night

Friday night probably around 11 o'clock, the Robins Cleaning establishment was burglarized. A 1 x 12 piece of lumber was removed, and a hole knocked in the back door. The exit with some $500 worth of men's clothing was achieved through the same opening.

All of the clothing stolen was men's wear, and even the pile of dirty garments was rifled through and two or three articles taken. All of the loss is covered by insurance.

Of the 49 years the Sorghum Mill, which houses Robins Cleaners, has stood on Lincoln avenue, this is the first time it was ever broken into. Bill Robins, owner of the cleaning shop, has carried on business as usual this week and states that it is planned to install modern burglary equipment in the very near future.

TEEN-CANTEEN GROUP ENJOYS SOCIAL AFFAIRS

Although the talent show planned by the Teen-canteeners last Saturday evening had to be called off for lack of sufficient willing talent, Friday and Saturday nights each of the groups enjoyed their regular week-end socials. The low-teens on the first night reported an attendance of about 70, and earned $14 for the treasury from the sale of refreshments. The high-teens, with over 150 present, cleared approximately eight dollars.

Stan Doerr, coordinator, and the officers expect to meet soon to make future plans and arrangements for the Teen-canteen.

BP Kids Hire Director, Plan Year Program

Franklin Sullivan, chairman of the advisory board to BP Kids, Inc., disclosed in a speech at Kiwanis club Tuesday evening that Ray Thomas of Seal Beach has been retained by the BP Kids, Inc., as first recreation program director for Buena Park. Thomas as been requested to draw up a tentative program plan for the year and submit it at the next board meeting.

Sullivan revealed that Thomas is a graduate of Whittier college and a navy veteran. He also coached swimming and water polo at Fullerton Union High School and Junior College.

On the same Kiwanis program Tuesday evening, Caryl Snyder, chairman of the Buena Park Recreation Park board, told of the accomplishments at the park site on Hansen road. The grandstand is completed, he said, and the ball diamond will be ready for play as soon as the grass in the outfield is established. Further improvements are being carried forward rapidly also.

Special music will be provided by the churches uniting for the service.

Merchants of the Cypress community will be closing their stores for the hour service.

PLAN SUNRISE SERVICE EASTER BY - THE - SEA

All of Orange and neighboring counties, and visitors away from home, are invited to observe an Easter sunrise service-by-the-sea. Sponsored by the Corona del Mar business association, it is believed the ocean bay and green bluff, under the first morning sun, will make an ideal setting.

It is hoped that the Easter sunrise service, at the foot of Heliotrope avenue, in Corona del Mar, will become an annual observance for the south coast community. Modern sound transmission equipment will carry Easter week music, prayer and brief words on the day's significance to an expected attendance of thousands.

Observe Army Day Saturday

Special military ceremonies Saturday, April ninth, at army installations throughout the Sixth Army area will mark the 22nd observance of Army Day.

This year Sixth Army observances are aimed to demonstrate the ways in which the army operates as a part of a team for security. Close cooperation with the navy, air force and marine corps will be emphasized in ceremonies scheduled for all installations in the Sixth Army area. The National Guard, Organized Reserve Corps and Reserve Officers Training Corps will also participate.

Parades have been scheduled in Los Angeles, Portland and Seattle, while veterans and civic organizations are planning luncheons and special programs for the observance of the day.

On Sunday, April 17, at 9:15 p.m., KVOE will present "Curtain of silence." The program, prepared by Columbia university with the cooperation of the United States public health service, records interviews by George Hicks with victims of syphilis who tell of their experiences during the course of the disease.

FULLERTON COLLEGE GROWTH REVIEWED

Growth of the public junior college movement in California was highlighted in reports presented to the twenty-fifth anniversary meeting of the Western College Association held in Claremont Saturday.

Seventeen California junior colleges enrolled 1096 students in 1919 while in 1948 fifty-five junior colleges were educating 54,584 students. Fullerton Junior College, founded in 1913, is one of the leading junior colleges in the nation. California State Colleges enrolled a total of 22,787 students in 1948 when 43,418 were attending on the various campuses of the University of California.

Fire Chief Arnold Reminds of Rules Regarding Fires

IMPORTANT TO KEEP PERMITS IN MIND FROM NOW ON

Fire Chief A. E. "Pat" Arnold, wishes to remind residents of the rules issued under the direction of the state forestry department concerning fires in the unincorporated county areas. No trash or grass fires without a permit, from April first to December first. It is not permissible to burn open fires at any time. Incinerator fires may be burned between the hours of seven in the morning and ten in the evening.

There are many good reasons for these rules and regulations, and there will be less danger from fires if they are followed carefully. Spring is the time to clean up the streets, yards and alleys. It will be well to think of these precautions during the clean up, fix up, and paint up week planned for Cypress this year during the last week in April. An estimated $711,-114,000 worth of irreplaceable goods and property was destroyed by fire during 1948, establishing a new record of preventable destruction.

Permits to burn in open fires are available at the Cypress Beverage store, or at the Cypress Hardware store. There is no charge. Arnold urges all residents to help in the clean up campaign and cooperate with the officials by obtaining permits to burn in open fires.

Cypress Enters Softball Team In Norwalk League

A softball team, to be sponsored by the Cypress merchants is issuing a call to any player who is interested to come to practice and try out for a position on the team. There was a good turn-out for the first practice Wednesday evening, but positions are still open for those interested.

Long-time residents in Cypress recall that the town was once well known in baseball circles. Such famous players as the late Willie Herschberger and "Arky" Vaughn were members of the town's baseball team early in their careers. It is hoped that a Cypress merchants' softball team will help to identify Cypress in surrounding communities, and will offer the townspeople some good, clean entertainment for the summer.

Dick Hathcock, local business man, attended a meeting of the Norwalk softball association Tuesday evening. He entered the Cypress Merchants team in the league, which will consist of six members and play a double-round robin schedule. The teams entered from Norwalk are the Coast Grain and National Guard; from Downey, Chris' Union Service and All American Market, and the local entry. One more entry is needed. League play is scheduled to open May second in the Norwalk county park. Admission to all games will be free.

The public is urged to be present at the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce at the school auditorium on Monday evening, April 11. Two representatives from the Pacific electric railway company will present the company's side of its proposed effort to abandon passenger service on the Los Angeles-Santa Ana line which serves Cypress.

Roy McClellan and Joe Blackburne, P. E. spokesmen, are declaring in speeches made before civic organizations in interested communities serviced by the company, that rail service must be curtailed because of huge financial losses. McClellan and Blackburn are reported to have said that the passenger service conflicts with a steadily growing frieght business on the line, which, they say, is much more profitable.

It is not necessary to be a member of the Chamber of Commerce in order to attend this open meeting Monday evening. This is the opportunity for members of this community to hear the Pacific Electric company's side of the story as to why it intends to discontinue passenger service and leave several towns and villages along the route without public transportation of any kind.

BUREAU REVEALS IT WAS THE COLDEST WINTER ON RECORD

Now it's official: Southern California and Cypress suffered its coldest winter in history this year.

The weather bureau said today that the composite mean temperature during the first three months of 1949 was 51.8 degrees. Previous low for the same period was 52 degrees in 1880.

"Snowstorms from Jan. 10-12 may be considered as the worst on record and the deposition of show the deepest of available record," the bureau said. The thermometer didn't get above 60 degrees here for 20 straight days in January.

AN INVITATION TO ATTEND C OF C MONDAY NIGHT

As a member of this community, are you interested in what is going on around you? If so, you will want to cooperate with the Cypress chamber of commerce, and accept its invitation to the meeting in the schoolhouse Monday evening.

Two representatives of the Pacific Electric Railway will highlight the evening's order of business with an explanation of why the company has petitioned the public utilities commission to abandon its passenger service on the Los Angeles-Santa Ana line. Under the present plan, if this means of transportation is withdrawn for the public's use, Cypress will be "stranded" with no means of public conveyance. The company's plan shows the nearest bus, which will be substituted for the trains, as traveling on Manchester boulevard.

Your chamber is working for you. Why not show you are interested in its efforts in your behalf by being present at the open meeting Monday evening in the school house beginning at eight o'clock? You need not be a member in order to attend.

BERLIN BLOCKADE — YEAR I

Just a year ago March 31, the Russians slapped their rail blockade on Berlin. At that time, you may recall, they said that repair work had to be done on the rail lines. After 366 days the "repairs" have yet to be completed (or started.)

A year ago April 1, the Berlin air lift began. It was more or less of a makeshift affair which at best, so it was believed, couldn't keep the Western sector of the great city from hunger very long. Even the most optimistic observers felt that time, and especially winter, would catch up with the air lift and make the situation hopeless unless the Russians relented.

But that was a year ago. Today the giant air carriers of Britain and America are pouring supplies into Berlin at a rate undreamed of in April, 1948. If progress continues, the daily tonnage will soon equal that of the rail transportation before the blockade.

The whole affair has served to enhance the prestige of the Western nations — our own, in particular — more than anything else that could have been done.

A year ago the Russians lowered the boom — but the boom became a boomerang.

APRIL HISTORY

The month of April appears to have recorded more than its share of the historic events which this nation as experienced.

On April 19, 1775, the first battle of the Revolutionary War was fought at Concord. The first session of Congress got under way on April 6, 1789, in New York. Washington was inaugurated three weeks later on April 30.

The Pony Express started its first run between Sacramento and St. Joseph, Missouri, on April 3, 1860.

On April 12, 1861, Fort Sumter was fired on and two days later Lincoln called for volunteers. General Robert E. Lee surrendered at Appomattox on April 9, four years later. And just five days after that President Lincoln was shot down and died the following day.

Thirty-two years ago on April 6, the United States declared war on Germany — a date now observed also as Army Day. In April, 1945, Germany was rapidly collapsing under the heavy attack from east and west. That same month on the 12th, Franklin Roosevelt passed on suddenly and Harry Truman took over in his place.

The meeting to draw up the United Nations charter was held in San Francisco on April 25, 1945.

That's plenty for one month.

I RISE TO REMARK
By John Phillips

There is a slight acceleration in the Congress but not much is coming out at the production end of the machinery. Even the gentleman who lives at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue (except when, more fortunate than most tenants, he finds that his landlord is able to make repairs) is beginning to remark on the lack of results. I was amused at one columnist who commented that during the campaign the President had referred to the 80th Congress as the "second worst in history," to the puzzlement of writers who were trying to figure out which he put first. Now we all know; he was saving that spot for the 81st Congress.

We have increased the President's salary (for a long time that was our major achievement); we have put a 2c sales tax on the District of Columbia; we have renewed rent controls, but with a provision that local agencies of government could determine controls were not needed. To this the Senate added the buck-passing requirement that the Governor of a state also had to approve the resolution. The repeal of the Taft-Hartley act is stuck in committee and I repeat what I said to my union friends in Banning in December; there isn't a chance in a million of repealing it — amendment, yes; repeal, no. Why? Because the working people themselves don't want it repealed. Look at the votes when it comes up.

The hours and wages bill is stuck equally firmly, and again I repeat what I said. The minimum wage will be increased, of course. The south will be most affected, the northern manufacturers will secretly rejoice to see greater equalization; but widespread broadening of the provisions? No. The country is not yet ready for them and that means Congress is not yet ready for them. ECA is up in the Senate and appropriations are moving.

As I write this, we are on oleo; once a casual discussion on its merits; now one of the hottest issues. The 28 oleo manufacturers hope it (the discussion) will continue indefinitely. They get a million dollars publicity a year out of it. I refuse to get excited about it. The oleo makers will probably win, perhaps this year, perhaps next, who knows? The housewives will be able to buy oleo already colored. What will they think when price goes up? They have been promised cheaper prices. Will it reduce the supply of milk? Will we import butter from Australia? I suspect so.

What interests me in the discussion is largely academic at the moment. We will be less able to withstand the pressure to permit the use of other synthetic products to "fortify" commonly used foods. My bakery friends will be offered synthetic products instead of animal fats or eggs. Whole economies will be upset in the long run. Mice and guinea pigs and monkeys get convulsions from being fed on these synthetics. How will the human guinea pigs stand them? We are apparently going to have to find out. That, my friends, is undoubtedly "progress."

Cypress Elementary School

Real Box Social April 23 Planned

If you've ever been to a real, old-fashioned "box supper", then you won't want to miss the one being planned for Saturday night, April 23, in the utility room of the Cypress elementary school. If you are too young to know what they're all about, you'll want to be there out of sheer curiosity.

The gals will be busy finding the prettiest shaped boxes to cover with the prettiest colored papers, and will be planning the most delectable food items to go into them. The male of the species will be saving his ducats to pay for the box he thinks belongs to the sweetest and the prettiest gal there when the auctioneer shouts, "Sold."

Sponsored by the board of the Recreation Park, Inc., the event promises to be fun and entertainment for all. Jake Van Dyke, president, announces that there will be a separate auction for the younger group and the older group.

VACATION

The regular Easter vacation for students of the Cypress School will be observed the week starting April 11, with Easter being observed on Sunday, April 17.

The last classes will be on Friday, April 8 and school will not be resumed until Monday, April 18.

The regular monthly meeting of the P-T.A. will be held for April on the 21st, at eight o'clock in the evening. Mrs. Verna Brienholt, from the county office will be the guest speaker.

The upper grades are enjoying a kite contest today.

The lower primary grades are being given their Easter parties this afternoon.

The regular P.-T.A. sponsored card party will be held in the utility room of the school on Tuesday evening, April 19.

CITY DIRECTORY SURVEY NEARLY COMPLETE: OUT SOON

The house-to-house canvassing of Buena Park will be completed by April 15, according to Mrs. Ruth Torgerson, in charge of compiling the information for the new directory of Buena Park. The first directory of the city published in over ten years, the teams of information gatherers have been slowed down by lack of basic information and because some people are hard to catch at home, she said.

The total census and some of the other statistical information is going to be a great surprise to many people, she reported, with some totals already higher than accepted estimates. Also, she said, information has been completed, the applications for books when they are completed is most gratifying.

Advertising sales will continue until typesetting of the statistical probably late in April.

BUILDING MATERIALS CONCERN ORGANIZES AT STANTON

Stanton, located on three railroad lines and seeking development as the industrial heart of West Orange County, gained one industry early this year with so little fanfare that few persons realized it.

The industry is the pumice-concrete building material manufacturing concern of Carbon Dobbs Co., of which Carbon C. Dobbs is general manager. Dobbs has designed four-foot long "wall sections" as well as girders and other building items which he manufactures from what he terms lightweight concrete, using pumice in the mixture in place of gravel.

The plant office was constructed first, in January of experimental "wall sections" and gridders, and during March the concern erected a crane way made entirely of its own product.

Thieves seem to like the type of tree roses grown by Arie Van Klaveren, who has them planted around a circular drive at his dairy home, 9591 Miller road. Last year, ten of the bushes were removed from the driveway and this week two more were torn out.

California Water Shortage Grows, Says Expert

By Ralph H. Taylor
(Executive Secretary, Agricultural Council of California)

Slowly but surely California is running out of water!

That's the consensus of opinion among engineering experts who have probed below California's green fields and groves in an effort to guage the extent of underground water supply.

Over a decade ago a gigantic project was undertaken in an effort to remedy the threat of future water shortages — the Central Valley Project. This great plan was conceived solely as a water conservation measure, although it is apparent that certain deviations from the original purpose are being contemplated.

A few short years ago — less than a half century according to Harry Holley, eminent California engineer and water authority — the water problem didn't exist. The two broad, fertile State valleys were well irrigated by rivers, streams and occasionally canals. Pumps to tap underground water were few, and effective if sunk only to shallow levels.

In the brief span of 50 years, however, California has grown from a virtually untamed wilderness to one of the foremost industrial and agricultural areas in the world. Its population has soared from thousands to over ten million. Today the rivers and streams don't begin to provide water for the vast new areas under cultivation. Wells have been sunk to depths of 2000 feet, at great cost, to tap new water reserves. The underground water table is dropping at an alarming rate.

In a few words, the reason for the decline in underground water sources is simple. Before the first World War, in 1904, Mr. Holley states that there were fewer than 100 pumping plants on the Kaweah Delta in Tulare County. Today the number exceeds 4000. Mr. Holley explains that "because the growth of water pumping was concentrated in areas with little or no canal service, there was little opportunity in such areas for replenishment of the underground water supply.

"As a result, use in most such areas outstripped replenishment, and water levels began to fall seriously, accentuated by years of low

THE CORNELL has a plan which calls for a combination living-dining room. This room combination separates the service area of the house from the bedroom wing. A third bedroom to the left of the entrance vestibule can be used as a den, office, workroom or rented out, if desired. This room is equipped with a large closet, and is accessible from both the front and side entrances.

The Cornell's modern kitchen is compactly arranged. There is ample space for a breakfast table under the high storage cabinets at the end of the room. The rear entrance hall leads to the bedroom, lavatory, kitchen and basement. It has a shallow cabinet for storage.

The Cornell's bedroom wing has two bedrooms, each provided with a wardrobe. The bathroom has a towel closet and there is a linen closet in the hall.

The exterior of The Cornell is finished with siding on frame construction. It has low roof lines and wide overhanging eaves. The garage is optional, The Cornell's plan has an area of 1,106 square feet and contains a volume of 21,235 cubic feet, excluding the garage.

For further information about THE CORNELL, write the small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minnesota.

BRIDGE ACROSS THE ATLANTIC

The bridge of mutual defense and cooperation which now extends across the North Atlantic was not so much the handiwork of American diplomacy as it was the product of Soviet aggression.

The men in Moscow didn't design the bridge but they supplied the incentive for it. Had their attitude since the end of the war been reasonable there would have been no occasion for the North Atlantic Security Pact.

At any rate, the Politoburo in four short years has unwittingly created a unity between Western Europe and American which the ablest men of those countries were not able to achieve in many decades.

Now the last vestige of American isolationism is gone. We have completed the transition which began over 30 years ago when we declared war on Germany. In the interim the tide of isolationism returned to the flood stage only to subside completely in the face of the hard realities of the world today.

There can be no question but that this new defense pact meets with the general approval of the American people. Having encouraged aggressors in two great wars through lack of preparedness and apparent indifference to the plight of other nations, the people of America realize at last that they must face their world responsibilities. They know now that they must take steps to prevent war —not wait for war to come while, ostrich-like, they hide their heads in the sand.

The North Atlanic Pact will not in itself guarantee peace. But it should serve as a blunt warning to Moscow that something more than words will be used to check aggression against the West.

And the men in the Kremlin know that we aren't kidding.

CHICKEN ANY TIME

What is always a popular dish? Why, chicken, of course!

Meals, planned around chicken offer unlimited possibilities for variety. The most versatile of meats, chicken, is equally suitable for simple every day meals, for dainty appetizers, buffet supper delicacies and "company" dinners.

Always cook chicken well-done. It should be fork tender. Low temperature is the secret of good chicken cookery.

Chicken has few equals when it comes to flavor and appetite appeal. Its nutritive properties coupled with its delicate flavor and its versatility make chicken a frequent "must" on menus.

Good poultry should be plump, have a creamy colored skin, be free from blemishes, and be comparatively free from pin feathers.

Chicken adds glamour to any menu!

CHICKEN POT PIE
(Serves 6)

- 3 C. diced cooked chicken
- 3 medium potatoes, diced, cooked
- 1 tsp. onion, chopped
- ¼ C. flour
- 1 tsp. salt
- ¼ tsp. pepper
- 2 C. chicken stock
- 1 tsp. parsley, chopped

Alternate layers of chicken and potatoes in a greased 1½ quart baking dish. Brown onion in hot fat; add flour and seasonings; blend. Add chicken stock; cook until thick. Add parsley; then pour over chicken and potatoes. Top with pastry strips rolled ¼" thick. Bake in hot (400° F.) oven for 25 to 30 minutes.

OVEN FRIED CHICKEN WITH DRESSING
(Serves 6 to 8)

- 1 4-lb. chicken
- 6 C. dry bread crumbs
- 1 tsp. salt
- ½ tsp. pepper
- 1¼ tsp. sage
- 2 Tbsp. onion, chopped
- ¼ C. melted bacon fat or margarine
- 1 can condensed chicken soup or 1¼ C. rich broth

Cut chicken in pieces for serving. Dip in seasoned flour; brown. Combine remaining ingredients using one-half cup of soup. Place dressing in deep pan, top with chicken. Make gravy, using pan drippings, 2 tablespoons flour and enough water added to remaining soup or broth to make 2 cups. Pour over chicken; cover; bake in moderate oven (350° F.) for 1 to 1¼ hours.

FRIED CHICKEN WITH CREAM GRAVY
(Serves 6)

- 2½ to 3½ lb. chicken
- Salt
- Pepper
- Flour
- ¼ C. fat
- 1½ Tbsp. flour
- 1½ C. milk

Cut dressed and cleaned chicken into serving pieces. Season with salt and pepper and roll in flour. Heat fat in frying pan. Add chicken and brown on all sides. Reduce flame; cover pan tightly and cook slowly until tender ¾ to 1 hour. Remove to hot platter. Add flour to fat in pan and cook until slightly brown. Add milk and cook, stirring constantly until thickened. Serve with fried chicken.

ROAST CHICKEN

Choose a 3½-6 pound roasting chicken, singe, clean, wash, and dry: Rub inside with salt; stuff lightly with any desired stuffing and truss. It will take 2½ to 4 cups of stuffing to fill the cavity. Place, breast side up, on a rack in a roaster or dripping pan; rub with butter or margarine. Roast uncovered in a moderately slow oven (325° - 350° F.) basting at 20 minute intervals. Allow 20 to 30 minutes per pound for total roasting. Place chicken on hot platter, garnish as desired and serve. Allow about ¾ pound per person.

CHICKEN SALAD
(Serves 6)

- 2 C. chicken, cooked and diced
- 2 C. peas, cooked
- 1 C. celery, diced
- 1 Tbsp. onion, grated
- 1 tsp. salt
- ¼ tsp. pepper
- ½ C. mayonnaise
- Salad greens

Mix chicken, peas, celery, onion, seasonings and mayonnaise. Chill. Serve on salad greens and garnish as desired.

COOKED CHICKEN GIBLETS

Clean giblets (heart, gizzard, and liver). Cover heart and gizzard with cold water and simmer, covered, until tender, or for ¾ to 1 hour, adding liver and ½ teaspoon salt the last 20 minutes of cooking. Chop giblets and add to gravy or dressing, and use stock for gravy or to moisten stuffing.

Brighten That Corner

Here's a smart solution to that dark living room corner. In this home, the owner installed panels of glass block at right angles: one beside the front door, the second in what otherwise would have been an uninteresting blank wall. Now, instead of being a problem, the corner is the focal point of the room. The attractive panels not only transmit abundant daylight but at nightfall, when the lights are on, they endow the outside entrance with a hospitable glow.

State Schools Alumni Form Special Clubs

Local University of California at Los Angeles alumni are organizing a "Bruin club of Orange county." Alumni and friends of the University met recently in Orange to initiate plans for the first group meeting tentatively set for April 14 at the "Y" hut on the Santa Ana high school campus.

The invitation to this first Bruin gathering is extended to all alumni and former students now residing in Orange county regardless of membership in the UCLA alumni association, it was learned. Planning to obtain a representative group of former Uclans from Orange county, the club will assume projects such as alumni scholarship funds and building suggesitons for the ever-expanding campus.

University of California alumni will have a choice of two mountain camps for their family-style summer vacations this year it has been announced. "The lair of the gold bear" near Lake Shasta, first camp in the nation to be opened by a group of university graduates, will be conducted for a second year, while a similar program of recreation combined with talks by outstanding professors will be carried on at a new camp at Pinecrest near Strawberry lake, it was reported.

Both camps have swimming pools adjacent to the tents and cabins with easy access to the nearby lakes for boating and fishing. Meals are served in community dining halls. Cooperative nurseries enable parents to bring their children and still participate in the recreational program.

Alumni of the state university may obtain information on the camps by writing the California alumni association, 301 Stephens Union, Berkeley 4.

stream flow. It must be borne in mind," Holley warns, "that replenishment of the underground water body can be practically accomplished only by applying water to the surface of the area to be reached.

"The gravity flow of underground water is so slow that a generation might be required to replenish the subsurface water body in a given area in this manner . . . In the Kaweah Delta, measurements have indicated . . . that it would require 25 years for the gravity underflow of water to travel 10 miles!"

Summing up the situation as it exists today, Mr. Holley points out that "every evidence supports their (engineers') belief that pumping is proceeding in most areas at a far greater rate than the underground water is being, or can be, replenished."

Delving into the possibility of alleviating a disastrous water shortage, Mr. Holley claims that while the Central Valley Project is a help, it is not a solution in itself. "It would require the entire flow of the Friant - Kern Canal," he states, "to match the water needs of Tulare County alone. The entire flow of the San Joaquin River is insufficient to save the lands now under irrigation in the Southern San Joaquin Valley and provide any supply for new lands."

Then there is the matter of Bureau of Reclamation and Central Valley water. Mr. Holley indicates that many irrigation districts are reluctant to enter into contracts with the Bureau because of the "many objectionable features" which they assert are to be found among the terms of the contracts.

Chief objections, as Mr. Holley explains, are "failure of the contracts to confere permanent water rights; the power of life and death which the Secretary of the Interior would hold over the districts and their management; the 160 - acre limitation; lack of assurance that, having paid for the water and the local distribution systems over a period of 40 years, the districts would have their water supply contracts renewed; and the apparent intention of the Bureau of Reclamation to establish itself permanently in the water business as a de facto public utility."

It is impossible in a brief space, of course, to undertake a complete explanation of the Central Valley Project and the Bureau of Reclamation's contemplated plan for damming rivers and going into the power business. But most experts are convinced that the Bureau's plan will not provide the water so necessary to California. Too, if efforts had been directed only along water conservation lines, further progress undoubtedly would have been made already. Nevertheless, in the words of Mr. Holley, "whatever the eventual solution, one thing is crystal clear — California is short of water, and Californians must conserve the available supply at all costs."

ON - THE - FARM TRAINING OFFERED TO VETERANS

Veterans who are interested in on-the-farm training under the G-I Bill are advised to visit their nearest high school or junior college giving an agricultural course and get an application form for "institutional on-farm training". At present close to 1000 veterans, both disabled and non-disabled, are taking such training in the Los Angeles Veterans Administration Regional office area.

Such training consists of evening classroom instruction in latest methods, combined with supervised farm experience on selected or approved farms. Veterans may take courses on their own farms or on other farms as employers.

Plans For White Gold Day Recall Scenes From Past Celebrations

As plans are discussed and committees appointed to arrange the details of the great White Gold Day of 1949, the Enterprise endeavors to stir up memories of the fine celebration staged on previous White Gold Days. It is hoped that these pleasant recollections will further the enthusiasm necessary to make this year's affair bigger and better than ever.

LOS ALAMITOS SCHOOL TO BE ONE OF MOST MODERN IN STATE

Recently completed in Los Alamitos are the nine new class rooms and administration offices which have brought Los Alamitos and Laurel school state-wide recognition. Mrs. Lea Randolph, shown above turning the first shovel-full of dirt when construction started, gets credit for the decorating and color schemes called the "best of any built under the state financial aid program" by a state field representative. Two unusual features of the kindergarten are a real fireplace and blue venetian blinds.

CYPRESS LOCALS

Hostesses at the social interval were Mrs. Harry Trindel and Mrs. Virgil Still.

Los Alamitos LOCALS

Boy Scout troop 17 did its good deeds for the day when the boys completely cleaned, pruned, mowed the grass and weeded the garden of the family who have been the recipients of funds raised from the late barbecue and dance. The boys worked like "trojans" to give the place a nice clean look, and they succeeded. They spent their Saturday working for someone else when they might have been enjoying a good game of baseball, or any other such enjoyment.

Current visitor in Los Alamitos, visiting her daughter, Mrs. Alvin Little, is Mrs. E. A. McPherson. Mrs. McPherson made her home in Los Alamitos during the war, when she resided on Chestnut street. She is really taken with her newest little granddaughter, Becky Lynn, now five months old.

Mr. and Mrs. Danley Payne, now new residents, have moved here from their home in Cleveland, Ohio. They reside at 575 Green street, and have brought their young grandchild, Charlotte Payne, with them from the east.

Jake Van Dyke has been appointed a member of the Cypress elementary school board of directors to replace M. E. Penhall, who resigned.

"Frosty" Lowrey reminds us of "up again," "gone again" Finnegan. In true Irish tradition, he's back from the hospital and apparently his sunny self once again, none the worse for the terrible siege of double pneumonia and reaction to penicillin which he suffered later.

Local Endurance Flyer's Family Anxiously Awaits His Return

Endurance Flyer's Family Anxious For His Return

How does a flyer's wife feel about her husband trying to crack a ten-year-old endurance record and at present winging his way back from the east coast after spending two weeks hovering over Miami?

Mrs. William Barris of 5622 Kingman avenue, Buena Park, wife of Bill Barris, one of the two endurance flyers, replied that at first she had worried but by now had become used to the situation. "Especially since Bill and Dick spend night time over an airport," she said. "It's lonesome here without him, though."

Barris and his partner Dick Riedel passed the 500 hour mark and are well along on the last 200 hours necessary to break the existing world's aircraft endurance record made in 1939 by two Long Beach flyers.

Mrs. Barris was not one of the famed "Sunkist Ladies" who followed the flyers cross-country by automobile. Two of the Ladies were Barris' sisters and one was a sister-in-law! A third sister joined the group at Montgomery, Alabama.

The local airman's wife, who is a pilot in her own right, had to stay home and mind the children. The Barris' have two — a boy, Steve, and a girl, Patty Ann. The children are almost an item in themselves for, although a year apart in age, their birthdays are only one day apart.

Mrs. Barris met her husband during the war when they were both in the Navy, he as a ground school instructor stationed at Lone Pine and she as a stewardess in the Naval Transport Service. She had gone to Lone Pine to take up flying during her infrequent leaves.

She continued her lessons after the war and now has her license and about 90 flying hours to her credit. Barris has around 6000 hours, she said, although he has stopped keeping accurate check.

During the time when Barris and Riedel are not trying to crack the endurance record they are instructors at the Fullerton airport. It was at the Fullerton airport that they first met and planned their present flight.

Mrs. Barris said that the first previous try was grounded because of magneto trouble, a mechanical fault which rarely occurs in an airplane engine. The same airplane has been used for all attempts at the endurance record.

The two flyers left Miami on Tuesday and barring bad weather are expected to arrive back in Fullerton Sunday afternoon.
